

was born August 8, 1769; died April 10, 1852, in Mason County, West Virginia. For those who might be interested in the Van Bibber line the following information is furnished: Jesse Van Bibber was the son of Peter Van Bibber, who was born in Cecil County, Maryland, in 1730, died at Point Pleasant, Mason County, West Virginia, in 1796, and his wife Margary Bounds, born about 1740, to whom he was married in 1756. Peter Van Bibber fought in the battle of Point Pleasant, against the Indians under Constalk, October 10, 1774, which has been recognized as the first battle of the Revolution. He was the son of Peter Van Bibber who was born May 25, 1695 and was living on April 6, 1769. This Peter Van Bibber was the son of Isaac Jacob Van Bibber who was born in 1661, and his wife Veronica or Fronica. Isaac Jacob Van Bibber was the son of Jacob Isaac Van Bibber who died in September 1705, and his wife, Christina, who died September 4, 1711. Isaac Jacob Van Bibber was instrumental in the settlement of Germantown, Pennsylvania, in 1683. He appears to have come to the settlement about 1684 and his father and brother, Matthias, came about three years later.
